Some teachers strike, others to join Friday

BY DENA BISNETTE

Two Hancock County Schools closed Wednesday after teachers voted to defy a court order and go ahead with a planned strike.

The closed schools, Gulfview Elementary and Charles B. Murphy Elementary, were both picketed by striking teachers.

By striking, the teachers went against an order issued Saturday by Hinds County Chancery Court Judge Paul G. Alexander at the request of State Attorney General Ed Pittman.

Teachers from Bay St. Louis School Districts voted Tuesday afternoon to strike Friday.

The teachers from a third county school, Hancock North Central, voted Wednesday afternoon to defy the court order by also striking Friday.

At a Wednesday night meeting, the Hancock County School Board voted to move up spring and Good Friday holidays, closing all district schools Thursday through March 7.

Schools will reopen March 8, with buses running as usual. If having classes should prove educationally unfeasible at that time, students will be sent home.

Board member Monvel Cuevas, who made the motion to alter the school calendar, said opening March 8 would give the board an opportunity to find out which teachers are striking, which are working and how many students will attend school during a strike.

If school must be closed on that day, the board is expected to call a Saturday meeting to decide on further action.

The meeting was attended by about 40 teachers and administrators.

In addition Wednesday night, the board questioned Superintendent Terrell Randolph's authority to cancel Wednesday classes at Gulfview and Charles B. Murphy Elementary Schools.

According to board president Billie Faye Lyons, a telephone poll of board members Tuesday night showed the majority in favor of keeping the schools open.

Randolph, however, gave administrators the order to close the schools because the board can not legally take action without meeting.

Randolph said he has the authority to make such a decision in an emergency situation and quoted two statutes from the Mississippi Code governing a superintendent's right to act without board approval during a crisis.

Randolph said he made the decision to close the schools after administrators informed him that all but six of the Gulfview teachers and all but one Charles B. Murphy teachers had telephoned principals to say they would be striking Wednesday.

Randolph said the decision to close the schools was based on the possibility that there would not be enough working teachers to supervise students.

He said the school board was also concerned that students would be unsupervised at home if the buses had to be sent back and parents had already reported to jobs.

He said the district could possibly have been held liable for not notifying parents if an unsupervised student had run into a problem at home or at school.

"This strike is hindering the educational process. We don't condone strikes, although we do sympathize with the plight of the teachers because of the indecision of the state legislature, the attorney general's office and the State Department of Education relating to their general support for the improvement of education in Mississippi," he said.

"The only person who has made a decision on teacher pay raises at this point and stood by it has been Governor Bill Allain, and I respect him for not changing his mind every day," Randolph added.

Port commission, Bond to settle

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission agreed to accept the parking apron they had previously rejected as part of a settlement with the contractor, Bond Paving Company.

The tentative settlement was reached after three days of testimony but before the judge rendered a verdict, commission director James deBlanc said Wednesday.

DeBlanc added that commission attorneys had recommended a settlement with Bond.

"We agreed that it will be easier for the parties to settle than for the judge to decide," Walter Gex, county attorney, said.

Gex added a meeting had been scheduled for Wednesday to finalize settlement terms but the meeting was delayed because the project is not yet complete.

The Federal Aviation Administration wants the project complete before the meeting to finalize settlement terms, he said.

Based on the engineer's recommendation the commission had rejected the construction project because of problems with the paving of the 350 feet by 400 feet parking apron.

According to terms of the tentative settlement the commission would accept the apron with restrictions and a 10-year warranty backed by the surety company of Bond Paving.

The commission will also forgive actual damages of $54,464 and liquidated damages of nearly $120,000 assessed against Bond, under the agreement.

Liquidated damages included $265 per day Bond went past the time allowed for construction as specified in the contract.

As of now the contract is in a 15-month overrun, deBlanc said.

Actual damages included loss on income from the newly constructed hanger adjacent to the parking apron and extra engineering, billing and legal fees.

Terms of the settlement dictate that Bond roll the apron again this summer to see if the required density can be reached. If not Bond then would have to take further steps to correct the problems with the apron.

Bond will also drop claims against the commission totalling $101,420 plus interest on $24,000 for 10 months. The claims included extra fill material, site preparation for hanger construction and lost profits.

The settlement could be completed within the week, deBlanc said.

Chief Ladner to seek law enforcement unity

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Newly sworn in Bay St. Louis Police Chief Murray Ladner said one of his major goals in office will be to improve the department's relationship with other law enforcement agencies in the county.

"I believe many problems in the county can be solved if all the law enforcement agencies can work together," Ladner said.

Ladner took the oath of office in ceremonies at city hall Monday, following approval by the city council last week.

"I feel very proud that the majority of the city council felt that I could do the job," Ladner said.

Ladner said he has been trying to upgrade the department since his appointment as acting chief in September.

"I want to give the people of this city the best department they have ever had," he said.

As acting chief, Ladner started new programs with the appointment of a juvenile officer and the addition of a K-9 officer.

HNC students march to support teachers

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

A group of Hancock North Central High School students demonstrated support for their teachers Wednesday with a 45-minute protest march.

Approximately 50 students started marching at the beginning to the lunch period but the number grew throughout the march.

"We wanted to support the teachers and figured this would be the best way," said Samantha Lovelace, spokesman of the group.

"We heard about the students (who protested in support of teachers) in Ocean Springs and decided we wanted to show that we supported our teachers," she said.

Many of the marchers carried signs in support of the pay raise for teachers and during one part of the march students chanted "We support our teachers, the teachers need a raise."

Although for some students, marching was "the best way to show support," others were overheard to say, "We ain't got nothing else to do, we might as well join them."

At one point approximately 100 of the 460 high school students were marching.

According to one senior student, a walkout was planned originally.

Lovelace said the principal and several teachers did not believe the walkout was a good idea but had supported the march when the students agreed to do it on their own time.

A lot of the kids just wanted to be out of school, but those who want just to support the teachers will participate in the march, she said.

"Walking out while they teach is not the way to support the teachers," she added.

Principal Don Hillman said as long as the protest remained peaceful, the school administration had no objections.

"The safety of the students is our primary concern and we don't object to the students protesting if they feel strongly enough about it," he said.

Hillman added that the protest must continue to be only during the students' lunch break.

"We expect them to be back in class at the end of the period," he said.

Hillman also said he believed the student support would be higher Thursday.

Lovelace said the students will continue to march during the lunch period as long as the teachers are at school.

Hancock teachers voted late Wednesday afternoon to strike beginning Friday.

Hillman said the administration will try and find substitutes for striking teachers but the school will have to close if a large percentage of the teachers strike.

"We will not close unless we have to," he said.

Zoning board delays action on rezoning for condos

BY DENA BISNETTE

About six people appeared before the Waveland Zoning Board Monday to question a zoning change request for Imperial Beach Condominiums.

Nene of the six, however, voiced opposition to the project after their questions were answered.

Imperial Beach Condominiums, represented by Derek Breerwood and Frank McCavett, if approved, would consist of a 30-unit complex located on property between LaFitte Street and Grosvenor Subdivision.

Although the property runs from Beach Boulevard to the railroad tracks near Central Avenue, all of the condominium units will be located at least 400 feet from the beach.

The owners propose changing the zoning of the interior lots of the property from R-1 for single family dwellings to R-3 for apartment buildings.

The exterior lots, according to the proposal, would not be used initially and would remain under the current R-1 zoning.

Owners of nearby property questioned whether a natural drain in the center of the Imperial Beach property would be altered by the construction.

McCavett said that some drainage work will be done on the center of the property to create a small lake. However, the work will not be extensive enough to interfere with the natural drainage of the land.

Imperial Beach Corporation would have to obtain permission for the drainage work from Waveland's city engineer and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Breerwood added.

Other questions dealt with the effect the new condominiums could have on the traffic in Grosvenor Subdivision and LaFitte Street.

A new road to be constructed for the condominium will be a dead end street and is not expected to cause any problems with traffic, Breerwood said.

The zoning board had planned to recommend that the board of aldermen approve the change contingent on approval from the city engineer and the use of the property for the Imperial Beach project only.

However, the board took the matter under advisement to allow its attorney to determine if a conditional recommendation can be legally made.

In addition, the board decided to recommend denial of a request for the rezoning of property owned by Mr. and Mrs. Jessie O'Dell.

The property, located on St. Joseph Street, presently zoned R-1 for single family residences. The owners had requested a rezoning to R-3 in order to build a duplex dwelling.

The board decided not to recommend the rezoning because R-3 would be inconsistent with the rest of the neighborhood and would constitute spot zoning.

The board also called a special meeting for 4:45 p.m. Monday to discuss updating the city's subdivision regulations.

WHY WE ARE DOING IT

Teachers in many Mississippi school districts have either planned — or are about to begin — a job action in protest of the Legislature's failure to deal fairly and realistically with their need for significant salary improvement.

We are tired of being the lowest paid teachers in the U.S.!

Our teachers fully intend to provide a full schedule of teaching days, in compliance with state law. And we'll obey the current injunction against a strike at this time.

BUT, they need your support and understanding during this crisis period.

It was very good news for Hancock County on Wednesday with Borg-Warner's announcement of the construction of a $80 million plant at Port Bienville.

Borg-Warner recently announced a $40 million expansion to its current facility which is to begin in April.

Borg-Warner currently employs 40 people and the majority of them are from Hancock County.

The completion of the addition and new plant will mean 90 more jobs.

Leo Kowal, plant manager, also adds that local construction workers will be given priority during the constructions.

Jobs are very important for communities and we are happy to see more coming to Hancock County.

Dukes other recently acquired investigators in the division include former Jackson patrolman Dan Hatcher and Clyde Coleman, who was with Marxman Industries in Hazlehurst prior to joining the AG's staff.

Gulf Coast Office

A review of activities in the attorney general's Gulf Coast office was conducted at the end of the year, after the office had been open for five months, and as a result of the findings Attorney General Pittman has made the decision to keep the office open for "as long as we can afford to do so."

The office, in the Biloxi courthouse, was opened in August on an experimental basis. "The number of calls for legal research and assistance from local officials, along with the big caseload of consumer problems from the Coast convinced me that an office was needed in that area," Attorney General Pittman said.

"The reports have shown that this decision was the right one. People on the Coast are using the office more and more. We have had excellent support from city and county officials and from the news media and we are looking forward to working them in the future."

The reports show that the office was visited by 335 people and that 1,219 telephone calls were made about consumer complaints and other problems. The office is provided by the Harrison County Board of Supervisors and the secretarial help through a federally-funded senior aide program. The cooperation and support from local sources is enabling the office to remain open, Pittman said, since there are no provisions for a regional office in the AG's budget. Attorneys from the Jackson office will continue to man the Coast office on a rotating basis, he said.

News From The Governor's Office

Gov. Bill Allain

WHY NOT RAISE TAXES?

If you have been following legislative action and our response to those actions, you know by now that I am totally opposed to raising taxes at this time for any purpose in state government.

On Feb. 19, I sent a written message to the Legislature repeating that I am opposed to raising taxes and explaining why the people of Mississippi cannot afford a tax increase at this time.

With the legislation that is pending at this time, not only would your taxes be increased in 1985, but also in 1986 and in 1987. Over the three-year period—according to our most conservative figures—tax increases could amount to $236 million more in taxes that the people of Mississippi would pay. It would also mean that your taxes were increased every year of the term of this Governor and the legislators who presently serve you.

As I told the Legislature, I just don't believe the people of Mississippi can afford four straight years of tax increases.

We in Mississippi have been in tough economic times for several years now. Several factors figure into these problems. Obviously, the federal recession affected us as it did other states. But our recovery from that recession has not followed the recovery of the rest of the nation.

In fact, recent reports say that Mississippi goes into a recession early and is later than most states coming out of it. We are now seeing that is a true statement.

Additionally, during fiscal years 1980 through 1984, in state government, our state general fund revenues did not keep pace with general fund expenditures. In other words, we are spending money for state services at a rate higher than we are taking it in. It is time to put a stop to all this, and more taxes are not the way to stop it.

In an effort to gain control of this problem for the state, I have made several recommendations to the legislature that I would like to share with you:

* I have again repeated that I will oppose any tax increases this year, whether for salary raises for teachers, state employees, legislators, or for other programs. We currently have under way a study of state spending and taxing systems. Once this study is complete, later this year, I want to meet with legislative leaders (who have also done tax studies) and discuss ways to get control of state spending and ways to reform our tax structure to fund state government in a more consistent and dependable manner. This is the only way to stop the tax-and-spend pattern that has emerged in the past four years and that is threatening us for the next three years.

* I have reiterated that our executive budget includes a $1,500 pay raise for teachers, 5 percent pay raise for state employees (plus money for realigning positions to be competitive with private enterprise), 5 percent pay raise for university personnel, and 5 percent pay raise for junior college personnel. Our proposals would increase the average salary for university faculty to $29,206 annually; for junior college faculty to $21,977 annually; and for elementary and secondary teachers to $17,395 annually.

* We need to be working out long-range solutions to our state's economic dilemma, not patch-work, year-to-year temporary fixes. The most overriding consideration for all of us in government in this time must be what is the best plan for all the people of Mississippi, not just some few certain special interest groups.

(Following is the text of the governor's message to the Legislature.)

MISSISSIPPI
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT
JACKSON
February 19, 1985
TO THE MISSISSIPPI STATE LEGISLATURE:

At its beginning, we clearly stated our legislative agenda for this Session so that our intentions and specific plans would be clear to everyone. It is important to say our proposals are the result of careful deliberation and measured judgment.

Now with almost one-half of this Session behind us, the legislative course apparently being set by one house or the other gives rise for grave concern.

Because of the urgency and seriousness of this issue, I take this means to give encouragement to those who seem to be aware of the risks ahead and to advise those who need more information about the problems that lurk ahead as the result of some actions already advocated.

It is obvious to me, and should be of some concern to us all, that the pending spending proposals, if enacted, will require a tax increase in 1985, another tax increase in 1986 and another tax increase in 1987 to produce the revenue sufficient to support them. Coupled with the 1984 tax increase, you then will have raised taxes every year of this term.

Let me explain. We have experienced severe economic problems in the last five years, and our recovery has not kept pace with that of the nation. State general fund revenues have not kept pace with general fund expenditures in recent fiscal years. This has resulted in constant fiscal problems and repeated temporary solutions. Even now, a new report by the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta advises that Mississippi's 1985 economic growth will be small and will trail other parts of the South and the nation.

You must take notice of how those problems were then temporarily solved in order to understand and appreciate where we are today.

During fiscal years 1980 through 1984, nonrecurring revenues or "windfalls" were placed in the general fund and cash balances were spent down in order to meet just the base general fund expenditures, the result of which was that general fund expenditures exceeded general fund income by approximately $105 million.

When I say "expenditures" from the general fund, I am not talking about "appropriations," because in this process, we have been obliged in 1981, 1982, 1983 and 1984 to make administrative cuts in appropriations for line agencies in the cumulative amount of some $298 million in order to keep our budgets balanced.

In the meantime, sales taxes and income taxes were increased so as to yield approximately $150 million annually, purportedly in the name of education reform, but which turned out to be in name only.

The use of our accumulated assets has allowed us to live beyond our means, consuming more than we produced. But the scale of our past cut-backs and tax increases to finance State government gives us little time to correct our ways. There is so much to be gained by acting now to curb our excessive expenditures.

Now, let me give you a bill of particulars on what I mean.

1. Some of your proposed legislation, if enacted in present form, would virtually mandate tax increases not only this year as proposed, but also in each of the next two years, even when the most optimistic revenue growth is taken into account. Under conservative projections, those needed tax increases therefor will exceed $200 million and could approach $300 million before the end of this term in order to pay for those commitments. The people of Mississippi just cannot afford four straight years of tax increases. Such prospect is clearly unacceptable.

2. Proposed legislation fails to deal with the greatest budgetary problem facing the State—expenditures exceeding revenues. Simply put—the growth of expenditures is outrunning the growth of revenues. We must prevent the expenditure growth pattern from further outstripping the revenue growth.

3. I am concerned when I see plans emanating from Washington, D.C. which would see the Federal government get well at the expense of the States and local governments. For three years, we have had to raise taxes and cut expenditures in order to pay our bills. The downward trend in assistance to States and local governments continues.

4. It is difficult at best—high impossible—to predict with any degree of accuracy how the State of Mississippi will be affected by the proposed Federal budget with its cuts and freezes. I am convinced that the Federal deficit must be reduced, and I am assured that both sides of the aisle are committed to reduction of the deficit. I am also

Housekeeping

Weekly Summary
from
Mississippi House of Representatives

By Andrew Reese
House Information Officer

The 1985 legislative session has passed the halfway point with members of the Mississippi House of Representatives continuing to grapple with such important issues as state financing, education, and homestead exemption reimbursements.

The House gave its approval to an appropriation bill totaling $63.3 million to reimburse the counties, county school districts and municipal separate school districts for tax losses resulting from the homestead exemption program for the fiscal year starting July 1, 1985. The allocation, in the amount recommended by state tax officials, still faces Senate action.

A number of other appropriation bills also won House passage as lawmakers prepared to meet this week's legislative deadline for initial floor action on measures involving spending and revenues. (The deadline is Thursday, Feb. 28, for original floor action on House-originated appropriations and revenue bills.)

The 90-day session reached the midway point Feb. 21 with final adjournment set for April 7 unless unforeseen developments force an extension. And that would require a two-thirds vote by the Senate as well as House.

Major floor action last week included the adoption of a pay plan for state employees that would guarantee at least a 4 percent raise to the state's workers—those working at the local level and those based in Jackson. In addition to the basic 4 percent hike, the plan also authorizes a realignment of several job positions, involving about 17,000 employees, to keep salaries in line with the private sector.

The realignment was proposed by the state Personnel Board and the money needed to fund the realignment was contained in the budget recommendations of the Legislative Budget Committee.

Another key feature of the plan would provide about $8.8 million for "productivity" raises averaging 4 percent. Under the proposal, these increases would be left to the discretion of agency heads and could range from as low as zero to non-productive workers up to 8 percent for other employees.

However, the legislation would require an agency director, before giving a productivity increase, furnish documentation that an employee appraisal system as authorized by the convinced that the State will experience pressure from many sides to pick up those cuts and programs. For example, a reduction in some programs of only $160 million in Federal checks coming into the State could result in a loss of State revenue as much as $40 million.

5. The legislation that gives $73 million of sales tax to the Highway Department interprets immediately into the need to increase taxes just to meet the Legislative Budget Committee's General Fund Budget recommendations, and those recommendations do not provide salary increases for anyone other than a reserve for realignment. It interprets further that taxes must be increased even beyond that in order to provide a salary increase under proposed legislation for teachers, junior colleges, universities and State employees. Of course, the teachers will be blamed for causing the tax increases, while the Highway Department goes blameless. The General Fund loses $53 million unnecessarily, and above my recommendation, to the Highway Department before anyone gets a pay raise. This loss should not be tolerated by any means.

6. As called for by the Education Reform Act of 1982, the State Board of Education will submit to the Legislature on January 5, 1986, its recommendations on the personnel appraisal and compensation system for teachers and all other school employees. In anticipation of receipt of those recommendations and in the exercise of prudence, we should not consider doing anything at this Session relative to teachers' salaries that would make a commitment beyond one year.

Administering State government often involves making a series of choices based on two factors: need and affordability—the same factors that govern the decisions we make in our personal lives. Those two factors will continue to change, but the decisions that we make will continue to be based on what our constituents feel they need and what our resources are. Our people recognize Personnel Board was used to determine if the employee truly deserved the raise based on job performance. Sponsors said the language was designed to prevent granting of productivity raises on a "buddy-buddy" or political basis, rather than job performance.

In addition, the House-passed bill included a one-time longevity bonus to about 425 employees who already are at the top scale for their jobs and otherwise would get no increase.

A lot of attention was focused last week on preparing legislation for consideration earlier this week that would boost salaries of Mississippi's school teachers and raise the money needed to finance the raises. By the end of the week, an agreement had been reached by committees handling the bill to submit a bill giving teachers a $2,000 raise next year, plus health insurance under which the state initially would pay 55 percent of the cost.

The proposal would be funded by a "grab-bag" package of taxes that included new or increased levies on manufacturing machinery, contractors, cigarettes, liquor and wine, beer, newspaper sales, industrial fuel, railroad fuel, computer software, sale of automobiles between individuals, and coin operated amusement machines.

The measure was being readied for action earlier this week by the full House.

Sen. Thad Cochran made a brief visit last week to the Mississippi House, commending representatives for their efforts to encourage the Navy to select Pascagoula as the site for a new battleship homeport that could generate more than 7,600 jobs and an estimated $7.8 million annually in state and local taxes. Pascagoula is among six cities along the Gulf Coast still being considered as a location for the massive facility.

House members also received a visit from state officials of the Future Farmers of America—Perry Whitaker of Pearl, state FFA president; Don Parker, Hattiesburg, vice president; Martin Harvey, Collins, South Mississippi vice president; Mark Henderson, Weir, secretary; Beth James, Nettleton, treasurer; Duane Weems, Laurel, reporter; Donnie Hunt, McCool, sentinel; Tonya Burge, Poplarville, junior state president; and Bill Caraway of Lubbock, Tex., past national secretary.

that many needs exist, but, unlike certain special interests, they express their willingness to forego meeting some of them at this time.

For the benefit of either those who may not have heard or those who heard but did not understand, I will condense that which I have heretofore articulated.

1. We do not have the results of a study of our entire tax structure, including diversions, spending patterns, kinds of revenue, revenue needs, impacts and long range implication, and until we do, I am opposed to any tax increases.

2. The executive budget requires no new taxes, yet it provides pay raises for State employees, teachers, university faculties and junior college faculties including vocational teachers, and it gives the Highway Department an amount that the Highway Department itself concedes is sufficient to match all available Federal funds.

3. Unless the fiscal condition alters materially or our State's needs suddenly change substantially, neither of which at this time appears to be likely, I will oppose any tax increase.

4. Instead of developing a long range solution to our expenditure problem, final enactment of your current proposals for salary increases, sales tax diversions and tax increases will progressively worsen our problems, and you will be back next year and the next going through similar actions.

As far as I am concerned, the expenditure side of the fiscal year 1986 budget should not include any increase over the spending level that I have proposed. I will do whatever I can to enforce that policy as the budget debate goes forward. I want your support as we seek to put this State on the right road for a long-range solution to our expenditure problems. I believe that the public interest compels us to free ourselves from the notion that our State's fiscal policy should be determined by certain special interest groups.

Respectfully submitted,
William A. Allain
Governor

Diamondhead elementary proposal to be subject of Thursday meet

A proposal to develop a new elementary school in Diamondhead will be discussed at a 7 p.m. meeting Thursday in the Mississippi Room of the Diamondhead Inn.

A representative from Purcell Co. will be present to discuss possible financing and professionals in education will be available to discuss possible curriculum.

Among the benefits suggested by proponents of the new school is its potential for attracting additional families with children to Diamondhead.

A probable increase in property values, an additional facility available for use as an auditorium and the value a school in Diamondhead could play in assuring quality education for children are factors to be considered at the meeting.

Anyone interested in the proposal is encouraged to attend the Feb. 28 meeting. The outcome of the session will determine whether further planning should continue.

Bay district school board election set

Voters in the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District who live outside the corporate limits of the city Saturday select a school board member.

The election will be conducted at Waveland Elementary School on St. Joseph Street from 2-5 p.m.

Three candidates are vying for the seat. If one does not receive a majority of the votes cast, there will be a runoff election two weeks later.

The candidates, all Waveland residents, include:

—Margo Bradford Frommeyer, incumbent, employed by the Naval Ocean Research and Development Activity.

—Albert W. Von Antz, proprietor of Swimming Pool Services and Supply.

The election will be conducted by a chairman and secretary elected by those voters who arrive at 2 p.m.

The officers will oversee the ballots, handle the registration books and signatures of voters, and count the ballots.

The results will be turned over to Superintendent of Education J.D. McCulloch and the school board attorney, Lucien M. Gex Jr., who will announce the election returns.

TIMBERLINE

By David Watts
Hancock County Forester

The unusual weather we have experienced this year may also have an unusual effect on our State's No. 1 forest pest, the southern pine beetle, according to the Forestry Commission.

Unfortunately, "unusual" may mean "unusually bad" for Mississippi timber owners.

Southern Pine Beetle activity began to increase in Mississippi late last Summer, according to Protection Forester Bill Lambert of the Commission. Counties in Southwest Mississippi have shown the most activity, but reports of beetles have been received from across almost the whole state. Rankin County and the Barnett Reservoir area of Madison County have had notably high levels of activity.

The unseasonably warm temperatures that occurred during the late Fall and early Winter allowed beetle development to continue unchecked, rather than going dormant, as is normal during colder times of the year. This resulted in the buildup of larger than normal populations before lower temperatures finally did halt activity. Larger overwintering populations mean larger populations reproducing in the Spring and more potential damage.

Lambert said the Forestry Commission will begin its annual beetle detection flights in March or April with the arrival of warm weather.

Recent severe and prolonged cold temperatures and accompanying low chill factors, may not have had the detrimental effect on beetle survival as it would first seem. Southern Pine Beetles overwinter in all four stages of their development—egg, larvae, pupae and adult. Extreme cold can often kill high percentages of those beetles in the egg, or the young immature larvae stage. The older, mature larvae, pupae and adult stages are not affected as severely by cold temperatures and have a much lower death rate.

Just how much the recent extreme cold will affect them will depend on how much of the population was in these tender stages and how large the population was. If the population had built up to extremely large numbers by being able to go through another complete or partial life cycle, even a high death rate could nevertheless leave enough beetles to cause large timber losses. A high portion of the beetles in the older life stages may not suffer enough to make a noticeable difference in population numbers.

The bottom line is, if you have timber holdings, don't depend on the cold weather we've experienced in recent weeks to get rid of any beetles you may have had in your lumber. When temperatures rise in the Spring, check your timber for signs of beetles. Your forest is a valuable investment that will become even more valuable as time goes on. Treat it as such. See your local County Forester for vital information on how you can manage your timberland to reduce the potential for beetle infestations.

Wilson appeal denied

BY DENA BISNETTE

Holly Jean Blackwell Wilson, convicted of manslaughter in connection with the September 1980 death of Charles Cox, turned herself in at the Hancock County Sheriff's Department Friday after losing an appeal.

According to Sheriff Ronald Peterson, Wilson was convicted in 1981 and sentenced to two years in the state penitentiary at Parchman by Circuit Judge Leslie Grant.

Wilson had been released on bond while appealing her case to the state supreme court, which upheld her conviction last week.

Peterson said Wilson and Cox were cohabitating at Wheel Inn Trailer Park on U.S.—90 at the time she allegedly used a shotgun to kill Cox.

The sheriff said the two apparently had numerous domestic problems.

Wilson is being held in the Hancock County Jail and will eventually be transferred to Parchman, Peterson said.

Father of two students seeks school post

AL VON ANTZ

Charles Johnson making second run for Bay council

CHARLES E. JOHNSON

Bay St. Louis native and lifelong resident Charles E. Johnson has announced renewal of his candidacy for the Ward Three post on the City Council.

Johnson, 34, will seek the Democratic nomination for the office in the May 14 Primary Election.

Al Von Antz has announced his candidacy for trustee of the Bay St. Louis Municipal School District in the March 2 election to fill one of the two seats held by residents of areas of the district outside Bay St. Louis.

Von Antz, 37, is owner of Swimming Pool Services and Supply.

A native of Brooklyn, N.Y., he moved to Hancock County in 1958. He is a graduate of Bay High School and attended Jefferson Davis Junior College and Southern University.

Von Antz has served as president of St. Clare's Parent-Teacher Organization, member-at-large of St. Clare's school board, president of the Waveland Jaycees and as Mississippi State Jaycee district vice president.

A member of the Kiwanis Club and the Knights of Columbus, he has also been active as a scoutmaster.

He is president of the Bay High School Tiger Pride Band Aides.

He and his wife Linda have two sons who attend Bay High School. Von Antz said he is not running for the school board because he is opposed to everything they have done; "But I would like to see a little more input from the parents' side instead of just dollars and cents—instead of the teachers' side or the administrators' side," he said.

"I am concerned about teachers' qualifications and the salary situation. I would like to see competency tests for teachers.

"Like everybody in general, I'm concerned about the monies being spent, and making sure everything is being done the way it should be done. But I feel that this wait-and-see attitude—let's not spend any money until we find out about consolidation—is kind of backward," he said.

Von Antz is also concerned about the lack of band facilities at the high school and believes that music should be considered part of the academic program, he said.

"I'm not foolish enough to think that if I were elected to the school board I could make instant changes. I just feel a different input might be beneficial," he said.

Gary Griffin seeks re-election to Bay council

Bay St. Louis City Councilman Gary F. Griffin has announced he is seeking re-election to the Ward One position in the May 14 primary.

Griffin, a Bay Senior High teacher and coach, is serving the one-year unexpired term of former councilman Gene Taylor.

Griffin was named to the council seat in a special election following Taylor's election to the State Senate.

A native and lifelong resident of Bay St. Louis, Griffin is the son of the late Dr. John L. Griffin. The 33-year-old candidate is a graduate of St. Stanislaus High School, attended Pearl River Junior College, and holds a bachelor of science degree in secondary education from University of Southern Mississippi.

He teaches social studies and coaches football and baseball at Bay High.

Griffin and his wife Janelle reside at 814 Jackson Blvd. with their daughter, April, 3.

"I would like to thank my family and those people who supported me in the Special Election. I have enjoyed serving as Ward One councilman for the past year and I have learned a great deal about city government," Griffin said.

"If re-elected I will continue to serve Ward One and the people of Bay St. Louis with honesty and

"I feel that with my experience as councilman and my working experience with students and parents that I am the best man for the job," the candidate added.

"I would like to encourage everyone to register and get out and vote for that is what makes the election process work," he urged.

Billy McDonald opens real estate brokerage

William J. "Billy" McDonald reports he has opened a real estate brokerage firm at 114 Davis Ave., Pass Christian.

McDonald, a lifelong resident of Pass Christian, is District 3 representative, also serves on the Harrison County Board of Supervisors.

Prior to his election as supervisor, he served as staff manager for the Diamondhead Corporation and was a teacher and coach in both public and private schools in the area.

McDonald recently qualified and met all requirements to become a real estate broker in Mississippi.

He has completed GRI Courses I, II, III and IV and received his real estate brokerage license in January of this year.

McDonald is also a graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi.

In addition to expansion*Borg-Warner to build new plant at Bienville

By ELLIS CUÉVAS

Borg-Warner Chemicals, Inc. announced Wednesday the construction of an $80 million plant at Port Bienville in Hancock County.

The facility will be built adjacent to Borg-Warner's manufacturing facility originally built in 1982 which also has a $42 million expansion set for April 1985, which was announced last fall.

Borg-Warner manufactures Cycloc brand ABS engineering thermoplastics and has an employment of 40 persons now at Port Bienville, according to Leo Kowal, plant manager.

The new facility will manufacture materials used in the manufacture of Preveex brand polyethylene ether copolymer (PEC), a high-performance engineering thermoplastic used in housings for business machines, computers and telecommunications equipment, and in automotive parts and components.

"The $80 million construction of the PEC facility is set to begin in September 1985," Kowal stated.

In reference to the April construction Kowal said, "Jacobs Engineering, Houston, Texas, the major contractor for the ABS expansion, will place advertisements locally for construction workers in the near future. Plans are to hire local workers with construction skills for the project."

"Also for the construction of the PEC facility, I am sure local people will be also given priority on the $80 million project," Kowal added.

The completion of the Borg-Warner ABS expansion and addition of the PEC facility will mean a total employment of 130 people at Port Bienville.

Borg-Warner's total investment at Port Bienville will be in excess of $150 million with these completions," Kowal said.

Norman Montgomery will be the operations liaison for the construction of the PEC and will be the operations manager of the facility upon completion, Kowal allowed.

Montgomery, like Kowal, resides in Diamondhead.

The $80 million project is the first phase of a program that will ultimately give Borg-Warner the capacity to manufacture 110 million pounds of Preveex polymer annually.

At present, Borg-Warner compounds Preveex polymer at its facility at Washington, W. Va., from materials made at a joint-venture facility in Japan. Nitsubishi Gas Chemical Company is Borg-Warner's partner in that venture.

The highly automated plant will span several acres on Borg-Warner's 230-acre site, said Kowal. "Like our other facilities at the industrial park, this plant will feature computerized process control and quality control systems."

"Safety standards for the operation are designed to meet or exceed federal, state and local codes and ordinances and are supported with advanced equipment and highly trained personnel," Kowal added.

Energy efficiency has been designed into the operation, which takes excess energy from the manufacturing systems and recycles it throughout the plant, Kowal said.

"Like our current operation here, this one will be a model operation from an environmental standpoint," Kowal said. "There is no air emission hazard since all processes are totally enclosed and constantly monitored."

The only waste stream from the plant, which is non-hazardous, will be collected, containerized and hauled to approved disposal sites, Kowal stated.

Plant completion is expected in 1987.

Borg-Warner Chemicals, headquartered at Parkersburg, W. Va., also manufactures specialty chemicals and styrene monomer, a basic building block of the plastics industry.

Preveex and Cycloc are registered trademarks of Borg-Warner Chemicals, Inc.

Strike

Denise Wilkerson, picket captain at Charles B. Murphy, said the Hancock County strike partly was declared in support of other striking teachers around the state.

"The teacher aides and assistants are picketing with us to show their support, although the pay raise issue does not affect them," she added.

She commented that the teachers could face fines and contempt of court charges for going against the court order, but said she had heard no definite threats.

Gaynelle Roberts, a Gulfview teacher who picketed alone and with parents on Monday and Tuesday while her colleagues worked, is now a spokesperson for teachers at her school.

"The public has been the greatest to us while we've been out here. We've had food donations from local merchants, phone calls expressing support from all over the state and people stopping their cars to say they're behind us," Roberts said.

"We hope we don't have to do this long. We miss being in the classroom."

Roberts' co-captain, Charlotte

Johnson, added, "We've tried not to bring our students into this. This is not their issue. We have answered their questions but we've tried not to bring our opinions into the classroom."

"It was a hard decision to make when we were faced with breaking the law while we try to teach our students not to do it, but we're all committed to this strike now."

In Bay St. Louis, where teachers voted at Tuesday's meeting to delay the beginning of their strike until Friday, spring holidays will be moved up.

Superintendent J.D. McCullough said school will operate on a short schedule Thursday, with no classes from March 1 to March 8. School will resume as usual Monday, March 11, according to the current plan.

Students will attend school during scheduled spring holidays and Good Friday to make up the missed class time, he said.

The decision to alter the school calendar was made in an emergency session of the school board Wednesday afternoon.

"We're trying to alleviate a lot of the problems we could be faced with, such as extending the school year and delaying our seniors' graduation," he commented.

Peggy Dutton, a spokesperson for the Bay St. Louis Association of Educators, said the teachers had decided to delay the beginning of the strike until Friday to accommodate parents who need to arrange for child care while their children are out of school.

"We delayed it because we have been receiving a lot of support from parents," she explained.

"We're striking primarily because we feel that if teachers do not take this stand, there won't be enough teachers to fill the schools next year."

In Pass Christian, School Superintendent Leroy Lizana said he has been notified that teachers in his district will "take job action" Thursday.

The Pass Christian School Board met Wednesday to declare Thursday a teacher workday, cancelling all classes but requiring all personnel to report except bus drivers.

Lizana said the workday will give the board a chance to find out whether enough teachers will report to reopen schools on Friday.

A decision on Friday classes is expected Thursday morning, he added.

In a related action Wednesday, the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce arranged for its offices to be used as headquarters for a striking teachers' food bank drive.

Chamber President John Mason said the drive to collect and distribute food and cash donations will be operated by teachers, not the chamber.

"We have already declared our support for the pay raise. Assisting the food drive, however, does not mean we're taking a stand on the strike. We're simply making a humane gesture."

The chamber is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays and donations will be accepted during those hours.

Other projects to begin soon include the neighborhood crime watch and a plan to get a youth center established, he said.

Ladner said he is looking forward to working with a department whose members appear to be very dedicated to their work.

Mayor Larry Bennett said former chief Douglas Williams, who was unable to attend the swearing in ceremony, had sent his congratulations.

Williams said he knew Ladner could do the job, because he hired him, according to Bennett.

In a letter to Bennett, members of the police department expressed their support of Ladner's appointment as chief.

According to the letter, Ladner has the respect and loyalty of the department.

"He has proven himself as a leader and is fair in his dealing with the men and women of this department," the letter stated.

"His plans for this department are both innovative and exciting. It is the wish of the men and women of this department that he be offered the opportunity to continue on this positive footing," the letter continued.

Military Mention

AIRMAN DENNIS

Airman Michael J. Dennis, son of Berlon E. and Nell A. Dennis of 77105 Golf Club Drive, Diamondhead, has been assigned to Chanute Air Force Base, Ill., after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force. The airman will now receive specialized instruction in the aircraft maintenance field.

He is a 1983 graduate of St. Paul's School, Covington, La.

Crowd of 3,000 attends Great Day of Soccer

More than 1,200 young soccer players from five leagues, including Bay Area Youth Soccer, tested their skills in five exercises at Saturday's Great Day of Soccer III event in Gulfport.

Exercises included throw-in for distance and accuracy, kicking for distance and accuracy, juggling, dribbling, and goal kicks in the Milner Stadium program sponsored by the Coast Coca-Cola Bottling Co., Inc.

Doug Price of Coca-Cola said an estimated 3,000 people attended the event. Everyone who completed all five skills received a patch and two bumper stickers.

Price commented, "Every Kid is a winner."

On Friday night at 7 p.m. at Gulfport High School Auditorium 600 awards will be given in six different age groups of both boys and girls.

Individual and team winners are being notified.

Awards include plaques, medals, T-shirts, ribbons, certificates and soccer balls.

The South Mississippi Soccer Club of Gulfport Saturday sponsored a girls' tournament on the soccer fields adjoining Milner Stadium.

In addition to girls from Bay Area

Youth Soccer, girls' teams from the Slidell Youth Soccer Club, the South Mississippi Soccer Club, the Biloxi-Keesler Soccer Organizations and the Ocean Springs Soccer Organization played in the tournament.

Joann Duncan's Canonballs sponsored by Canon Copiers played four games in the Under-14 division—two teams from Ocean Springs, one from Gulfport and one from Biloxi. The Canonballs won two and tied two.

Kathy Edwards' Dynamite sponsored by Dillman Inc. played Under-12 teams from Gulfport, Ocean Springs and Biloxi.

Their record was one win, one loss, and one tie. The loss was on a penalty shot. Becca Kinney made the winning goal.

Waddy LeBourgeois' Nuggets sponsored by Gifts 'n Gold won against a team from Gulfport and lost against teams from Ocean Springs and Gulfport.

Sharon Raphael's Tigerettes sponsored by Mason Exxon played Under-8 girls from Ocean Springs and Gulfport. They lost both games.

Next weekend the Bay Area Youth Soccer girls teams will be playing games at the Kingspoint Soccer Field in Slidell, La.

ny Harvill, Scott Pepperman, Richard Watson, Scott Gelpi, and Shawn Keener; and rear from left, Beau Schindler, Scott Emmell, Brett Ladner, Zach Corbell and Steven Sones. Coach is Roselin Watson.

Betsy Boyce is among more than 400 girls who participated in Saturday's A Great Day of Soccer III and girls' tournament sponsored by the South Mississippi Soccer Organization of Gulfport's Milner Stadium.

Tara Vest of Bay St. Louis kicks the soccer ball for distance and accuracy.

Coach Waddy LeBourgeois instructs his daughter Renee.

Local sponsors drop state powerlifting invitational

The oldest powerlifting meet in the south came to a successful conclusion Feb. 16 at the St. Stanislaus gymnasium in Bay St. Louis.

In 1967 the St. Stanislaus Sideline Club sponsored the first powerlifting meet when powerlifting was but three years old.

In 1969 when Brother Bennet became a citizen of Hancock County he established the St. Stanislaus Weight Lifting Club which carried on the powerlifting tradition through 1985.

The Mississippi Invitational has been the official state meet throughout the years.

The reputation of this meet is nationwide. This meet has been referred to by some as the "little nationals."

Year after year lifters from around the country would travel to Bay St. Louis to compete in this prestigious meet.

However, all good things seem to come to an end.

Last Saturday following the third of the final deadlift while the chalk dust was still settling, results were read from the computer and the lifters took their place on the winners' circle, the house lights were brightened, cameras were snapping the final pictures of the winners—the traditional Mississippi Invitational was put to rest.

It became history.

Lifters from six states sent in entry forms. There were a total of 43 entries with six no-shows (three due to illness) and there were four bomb-outs.

The team trophy was won by Dania Health Club of Florida. In the lightweight class the best lifter was Joseph "Doc" Rhodes.

The heavyweight class was won by Gerald Welch of Louisiana.

Welch also set a new American bench press record.

This contest was sanctioned by the American Drug Free Powerlifting Association.

"The St. Stanislaus Weight Lifting

Club would like to thank local business men and merchants for their support over the years," Brother Bennet said in announcing he would no longer stage the annual Mississippi Invitational.

"It's up for grabs for anyone who might be interested in sponsoring the event," he added.

JOSEPH "DOC" RHODES came out of retirement to qualify for the Nationals. Doc totaled 1504 lbs. He is shown here squatting 551 lbs. His bench was good for 369 and a deadlift of 584. He lifted in the 165 class and earned best lifter.

Personally, We Think You Deserve A Different Kind of Hospital.

Most people think that the worst thing about going to the hospital is . . . going to the hospital. We think you deserve something better. Our medical staff is top-flight. Exceptionally skilled. Thoroughly experienced. Our technology is state-of-the-art—from digital angiograms to computer-aided laboratory analysis. We offer the advantage of a convenient location, and the assurance of management by American Medical International. But all that doesn't mean we equate professional care with impersonal treatment. Quite the contrary. While we're big enough to provide a broad range of superb medical services, we're not so big that human concerns get lost in the shuffle. In fact, as healers, they're our first concerns. So, we give you the kind of attention that makes going to the hospital a much more comfortable experience. At Garden Park, health care is every bit as personal as it is professional. That's what makes us a different kind of hospital. The Difference Is Entirely Personal.

Wildlife department restricts lake fishing

Fishermen in Northeast Mississippi will soon face certain restrictions on selected lakes along the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway, according to regulations adopted by the Department of Wildlife Conservation.

Bass anglers fishing either the Columbus Lake or Lock B will soon have to release certain sized fish back into the water.

Effective March 1 and continuing through Dec. 31, 1987, anglers fishing for any of the black basses must return to the water any fish measuring between 13 and 16 inches.

Biologists say all this is for the future good of the fishery there.

"Fishing pressure has already damaged the black bass population on Columbus Lake," fisheries division chief Jack Herring of Jackson said.

"We felt our action now was necessary before the bass population was severely affected."

USM to offer gerontology training

The Department of Home Economics and School of Nursing at the University of Southern Mississippi recently received a $122,373 grant to expand training programs for students preparing to work with the elderly, a rapidly increasing segment of the country's population.

The major goal of the project, "A Multi-disciplinary Laboratory Approach to Gerontology Training," is to provide gerontology training for persons preparing to enter fields with impact upon the elderly. It will establish an interdisciplinary minor in gerontology on the graduate and undergraduate levels and will establish a day-care center for well elderly adults, which will serve as a laboratory for closely supervised student training experiences.

Dr. Gerry Cadenhead, assistant dean of nursing at USM, will serve as the project's training facilitator and co-director.

According to Dr. Kay Clayton, project director and chairman and associate professor of family life studies and home economics education, the growing elderly population all across the South has created a great need for professionals specifically trained in the field of gerontology.

She said Mississippi has a growing population of people over the age of 60, increasing 22 percent from 1970 to 1980. Even within the state, there has been a shift in the elderly population from the north to south. According to the 1980 Census Report, the 15-county Southern Mississippi Planning and Development District (SMPDD) area experienced a 36.5 percent increase in the elderly population between 1970 and 1980.

The project proposal states that those 65 and over comprise the fastest-growing segment of the population today and many of their needs are not being met. The number of Americans between age 65 and 74 is projected to reach over 30 million by the year 2000 and the problem of unmet needs will continue to grow unless immediate action is taken to train professionals to serve the increasing number of older Americans.

Graduates having knowledge of and experience with the elderly should be able to find many and varied opportunities of employment due to the increasing number of jobs related to aging that are being created, Clayton said.

The project, through a cooperative/collaborative effort, proposes to establish a multi-disciplinary training program using an experimental approach. The establishment of two groups, a University Coordinating Council (UCC) and a Project Advisory Committee (PAC), is essential to the program's success.

The UCC will be comprised of representatives from various disciplines which are preparing students for careers which impact upon the elderly. Some of these disciplines include: nursing, social work, family life studies and home economics, institution administration (including nutrition and dietetics), education and psychology, counseling psychology, sociology and anthropology, speech and hearing, educational administration, research and foundations and adult education.

Members of the UCC, under the guidance of the project director and the training facilitator, will develop a plan to infuse gerontological content, including hands-on experiences, into their respective programs and into the establishment of a gerontology minor. Members also will coordinate and supervise training activities of students at a proposed day-care center laboratory for elderly adults.

The PAC will be comprised of representatives of state and community agencies or groups concerned with aging and the elderly. Some of these groups include the Mississippi Council on Aging, health care agencies, Southern Mississippi Planning and Development District (SMPDD) Area Agency on Aging, Southern Mississippi Human Resource Agency, retirement groups, church groups, the mayor of Hattiesburg and other volunteer groups.

Members of the PAC will work with the training facilitator to establish community-based sites for internships for students minoring in gerontology and to identify gerontological concepts to be infused into existing programs. They will help establish the day-care center for well elderly adults as well as determine the services that will be provided at the center. The PAC will support activities of the UCC to include gerontological content course work and to establish the minor in gerontology.

Clayton said the students from various disciplines studying gerontological concepts will have an opportunity to gain actual experience by working with the well elderly adults in a closely supervised setting. With collaboration among students in the disciplines, the learning experience will be facilitated.

Some activities or services that will be planned and conducted by the students at the day-care center include: keeping basic health records, assessing health status, planning and conducting sessions on budgeting or consumer rights and responsibilities and assisting clients with forms such as Medicare/Medicaid.

Students will also be responsible for conducting general health and fitness tests, directing leisure or exercise activities, holding counseling and guidance sessions, testing hearing, making psychosocial assessments, conducting seminars on crime prevention and personal safety, teaching lessons on diet and nutrition or wellness and preparing nutritious snacks.

Outcomes of the project, Clayton explained, will include the training of at least 100 individuals. After the 17-month funding period ends, the training program will be institutionalized at USM.

In addition, the model development through the project will be one that other universities in the region will be able to use. The ultimate beneficiaries will be the elderly individuals whose needs will be met by people who have been trained through the program.

CEES' White, Williams honored in AAA event

Sherry Phillips, student at Gulfport High School, won a First Prize in AAA Mississippi's Regional Safety Poster Contest.

Jarrod White and Joe Williams, students at Coast Episcopal Elementary School in Bay St. Louis won Honorable Mention Awards in the elementary-grades division of the contest.

More than 120 posters from all over the state were judged Feb. 5 at the AAA office building in Twin Lakes Office Park. Each young artist will receive a cash award for a winning effort.

Judges for the contest were Mayor Tony Byrne of Natchez, chairman of the AAA Mississippi Advisory Board; Theo Inman of the Mississippi Arts Commission; Neal Gramme, art director, Clarion-Ledger/Jackson Daily News; and columnist Joe Rogers of the Clarion-Ledger.

The Mississippi contest was held in conjunction with the American Automobile Association's 1985 Anual National School Traffic Safety Poster Program, which will be judged later this spring.

All Mississippi entries—not just winners will be sent to AAA National Headquarters in Falls Church, Va. to be entered in the national contest.

U.S. Savings bonds will be awarded the 132 winners, totalling $12,000 in prizes.

Reproduction awards will also be given and the reproduction posters duplicated for nationwide distribution.

Last year, the national AAA contest attracted over 180,000 posters; 6 million reproductions of winning posters were distributed.

The purpose of the contest is to educate millions of American schoolchildren in basic traffic safety rules, at the same time arousing students' artistic efforts.

The American Automobile Association's National School Traffic Safety Poster Program is a nationwide contest.

USM Foundation sets record fund-raising

The University of Southern Mississippi Foundation experienced a record fund-raising year during 1984 —amassing more than $1 million in cash contributions. It was the most cash raised by the foundation in a single year in the university's history.

According to Powell G. Ogletree, the foundation's director, the 25-year-old foundation's grand total income of $1,255,426 marked a new peak since the organization's founding in October of 1959.

Expenditures of $993,465.86 marked another record, almost reaching the million-dollar mark.

In addition to the record cash contributions for 1984, 13 new scholarship programs were established during the year.

Eight of those were endowment scholarships —those from which only the interest is used to support a scholarship each year.

The new endowment scholarships include: Hayward G. Anderson, Beta Alpha Psi; Dr. Richard Harry Clark Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Willoughby; Dr. Arnette Bonner; Kevin C. Swanson Memorial; Ed Langford Memorial; Kyle Greer Memorial; and the Mississippi Association of Purchasing Management scholarships.

Other foundation programs established during the past year included those on behalf of Frank Buckley; Gifted and Talented Children; Hattiesburg Physicians; Paul Craven Award; and John William Powell scholarships. Six new "Partners in Progress" were named for the year.

Endowment funds increased from $1,780,034 to $2,099,392.

The year also saw the beginning of the "Toward Distinction" contribution program for academic enhancement. At the close of 1984, a total of $61,255.47 had been received during the charter membership drive.

The program provides four categories of giving: the 1910 Club, Southern Circle, College Hall Society and the University of Southern Mississippi Associates. These clubs recognize those giving annual gifts of $19 to $99, $100 to $499, $500 to $999, and more than $1,000, respectively for academic enhancement.

Ogletree said the number of memorials or matching gifts continued to increase throughout the year. These gifts usually are made in honor of a deceased relative or friend.

Gifts in Honor reached a new peak during the year, Ogletree pointed out. These gifts are made in honor of living individuals.

Other types of giving —including designated gifts and special "name" scholarships— also continued to accumulate. Ogletree said, however, most gifts involved scholarships.

I do not believe in fate that falls on men however they act; but I do believe in a fate that falls on men unless they act.

—Gilbert K. Chesterton

More individual gifts were received than any previous year, he added.

The foundation, Ogletree explained, is nearing a position to further aid the university in its quest for distinction with total income to date nearing the $10 million mark and annual donations exceeding $1 million.

"The university will benefit now and in the future" through the financial support of former students, friends, business and industry," he said.

USM Foundation sets record fund-raising

The University of Southern Mississippi Foundation experienced a record fund-raising year during 1984—amassing more than $1 million in cash contributions. It was the most cash raised by the foundation in a single year in the university's history.

According to Powell G. Ogletree, the foundation's director, the 25-year-old foundation's grand total income of $1,255,426 marked a new peak since the organization's founding in October of 1959.

Expenditures of $993,465.86 marked another record, almost reaching the million-dollar mark.

In addition to the record cash contributions for 1984, 13 new scholarship programs were established during the year.

Eight of those were endowment scholarships—those from which only the interest is used to support a scholarship each year.

The new endowment scholarships include: Hayward G. Anderson, Beta Alpha Psi; Dr. Richard Harry Clark Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Bennett-Willoughby; Dr. Arnette Bonner; Kevin C. Swanson Memorial; Ed Langford Memorial; Kyle Greer Memorial; and the Mississippi Association of Purchasing Management scholarships.

Other foundation programs established during the past year included those on behalf of Frank Buckley; Gifted and Talented Children; Hattiesburg Physicians; Paul Craven Award; and John William Powell scholarships. Six new "Partners in Progress" were named for the year.

Endowment funds increased from $1,780,034 to $2,099,392.

The year also saw the beginning of the "Toward Distinction" contribution program for academic enhancement. At the close of 1984, a total of $61,255.47 had been received during the charter membership drive.

The program provides four categories of giving: the 1910 Club, Southern Circle, College Hall Society and the University of Southern Mississippi Associates. These clubs recognize those giving annual gifts of $19 to $99, $100 to $499, $500 to $999, and more than $1,000, respectively for academic enhancement.

Ogletree said the number of memorials or matching gifts continued to increase throughout the year. These gifts usually are made in honor of a deceased relative or friend.

Gifts in Honor reached a new peak during the year, Ogletree pointed out. These gifts are made in honor of living individuals.

Other types of giving—including designated gifts and special "name" scholarships—also continued to accumulate, Ogletree said, however, most gifts involved scholarships.

I do not believe in fate that falls on men however they act; but I do believe in a fate that falls on men unless they act.

—Gilbert K. Chesterton

More individual gifts were received than any previous year, he added.

The foundation, Ogletree explained, is nearing a position to further aid the university in its quest for distinction with total income to date nearing the $10 million mark and annual donations exceeding $1 million.

"The university will benefit now and in the future" through the financial support of former students, friends, business and industry," he said.

Aspirin use for flu treatment by children, teens said risky

In the midst of the flu season, important new information has become available about the development—in teens and children with flu—of Reye syndrome, a rare but serious condition that kills 20 to 30 percent of its young victims and leaves many survivors brain-damaged.

The new information comes from a U.S. Public Health Service pilot study of a possible link seen in four earlier state studies between the use of aspirin in treating flu or chicken pox and an increased risk of Reye syndrome.

The Institute of Medicine of the National Academy of Sciences has reviewed the pilot study and found "strong support" for the link.

Although personnel from the Food and Drug Administration, the National Institutes of Health and the Centers for Disease Control will continue the study through next winter, the Institute of Medicine advised that the federal government not wait to inform and protect the public.

As a result, Health and Human Services Secretary Margaret M. Heckler has asked manufacturers to remove any recommended use in flu and chicken pox from aspirin-containing products aimed at children—and to add a warning to all aspirin-containing products against use for flu and chicken pox in children and teens.

The pilot study looked at the histories of drug treatments and other factors of 29 young people who got Reye syndrome last year. Use of aspirin for flu or chicken pox symptoms was a common thread found in 28 of the 29 (whereas ordinarily less than half the young people with flu or chicken pox would be expected to take aspirin).

U.S. Surgeon General C. Everett Kopp, MD, has said that most childhood illnesses are self-limiting and usually don't require any medication at all. Doctors often suggest that a child with fever simply be made comfortable with cool compresses.

Of course, physicians continue to find aspirin useful and safe for adult teen and childhood arthritis and other conditions.

Reye syndrome is a rare condition—a few hundred cases a year. It was named in 1959 for an Australian pathologist who described it as a swelling of the brain, combined with liver malfunction and blood chemistry disorders leading in most cases to death.

Improved recognition and early treatment of the disease has helped reduce the death rate, but still about one out of four reported cases are fatal.

It is crucial to take action quickly if Reye's symptoms occur—whether or not aspirin or an aspirin-containing product has been used.

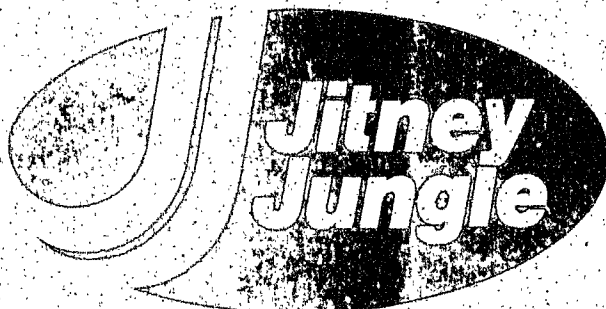

The first sign is generally persistent vomiting. The young person may be sleepy and lethargic, still still responsive. Within half a day, he or she can become disoriented, combative and delirious. Untreated, the teenager or child can go into a coma and die.

Thus, Reye is a medical emergency. A child with Reye syndrome symptoms must be taken immediately to a hospital, where blood and body fluids can be monitored and a respirator used if breathing fails.

Surgery may be needed, in some cases, to relieve pressure on the swollen brain. Therefore, act promptly if you suspect Reye syndrome.

Nominations open in science, math teacher awards program

Nominations are currently being accepted for the 1985 Presidential Awards for Excellence in Science and Mathematics Teaching program.

Eligible nominees spend at least half-time teaching 7th to 12th graders in a public or private school in a state, Washington, D.C., or Puerto Rico. Teachers are judged on their classroom performance, effect on students, and their personal and professional goals.

Nominations can be made by colleagues, administrators, students, or parents of students and must include the teacher's name, school, and school address. They must be signed and include a description of nominator's connection with the teacher. The deadline for receipt of nominations is March 1.

Six Presidential Award nominees are selected in each state and jurisdiction, three in science and three in mathematics.

Two persons, one science teacher and one mathematics teacher, are then chosen by a national committee to receive an expense-paid trip to Washington, D.C., for three days of events, including the Awards ceremony and an honors Workshop at the National Academy of Sciences.

The award also carries with it a $5,000 national Science Foundation (NSF) grant for the teacher's school, plus generous gifts from private sector donors.

This National Science Foundation program is managed by the National Science Teachers Association, working with the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics representing the mathematics community and with the Council of State Science Supervisors representing the sciences.

Selection of science teachers is made with the cooperation of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the American Association of Physics Teachers, the American Chemical Society, the National Association of Biology Teachers, and the National Association of Geology Teachers, with support from the National Academy of Sciences.

The Presidential Awards for Excellence in Science and Mathematics Teaching program was established by the NSF to identify outstanding secondary school teachers in science and mathematics, to provide increased status and rewards for high-quality teachers, and to encourage qualified teachers to enter and remain in the field.

Nominations or requests for further information should be sent to Ms. Louise Ginn, P.O. Box 771, Jackson, MS 39205, (601) 359-3495.

Your Stars Above

BY EVE EWING

ARIES (3-21/4-19) Don't make a move without consulting legal counsel. The action you are contemplating needs careful consideration every step of the way. This is no time for rash action.

TAURUS (4-20/5-20) Stop moaning about the neighbors' greener grass and tend to your own garden. Your stars indicate good fortune ahead, but it takes more than wishing to make it so.

GEMINI (5-21/6-20) It is time to take a member of your family into your confidence about a certain matter. You will need their support soon, and should not let pride get in the way of seeking it.

CANCER (6-21/7-22) Everything is going your way now, so be wise and store up for a rainy day. It would also be smart to tend to your romantic interests. Everything will work out eventually.

LEO (7-23/8-22) A change of scene will give you a better outlook on a situation that is bothering you. Sometimes you are too close to see the solution clearly. Everything will work out eventually.

VIRGO (8-23/9-22) What's right for your best friend may be wrong for you. Overcome peer pressure and follow your own instincts. An exciting career move is in the offing.

LIBRA (9-23/10-22) Your suspicion of the newcomer in the family circle is unfounded. Reach out and offer your friendship. Such a gesture will be repaid many times in the years to come.

SCORPIO (10-23/11-21) Changing your job to better yourself is okay, but are you sure you are making the right move for the right reasons? Examine your motives and evaluate the new position thoroughly.

SAGITTARIUS (11-22/12-21) Anyone who falls in love every other month is not ready to settle down. Unless you can sustain your enthusiasms for at least a year, steer clear of the altar.

CAPRICORN (12-22/1-19) You and your mate need a little fresh air in your lives. Take a long trip, or seek out new leisure activities to put the spark back in a basically sound relationship.

AQUARIUS (1-20/2-18) You are upset because no one supports your latest venture. Cast an eye back on some of your other whims, and you will understand their reluctance. You need a little staying power.

PISCES (2-19/3-20) Avoid an office romance which can only lead to heartache, and could cost you your job. The momentary thrill isn't worth it. Better things are in store for you if you just wait a little.

SIN AND ITS CONSEQUENCES (PART 3)

One comes to regret every bargain with sin. A 12-year-old was talking to a crippled, old man who was sitting on the park bench.

"A 12-year old boy did this to me!" Immediately the boy became all eyes—and ears—that was his age!

"Yes," said the man, "When I was twelve years old, I began to use tobacco; now my lungs do not work properly. A few years later, I began to drink beer and then whiskey; that damaged by brain. Along with drinking and smoking, I began to gamble. Now I have nothing to my name; I lost everything; I am a poor, broken-down old man. Yes, sir; a twelve year-old boy did this to me."

Often people do not recognize the cause and effect of sin because sin's effect is not seen within 24 hours. A little introspection and analysis will reveal the cause and effect.

Others often suffer because of our sins. Physical abuse is often felt by the wife and children caused by a drunken husband and father. Failure of parents to train their children in spiritual values.

Paul said, "And ye fathers, provoke not your children to wrath: but bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord." (Eph. 6:4)

Personal worry and anxiety is a consequence of sin. "But for the fearful, and unbelieving, and the abominable, and murderers, and whoremongers and corcorers, and idolaters, and all liars, shall have their pray in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone which is the second death." (Rev. 21:8) This list of sins is only a beginning of things, which is practiced, will condemn one eternally.

What are the kinds of sin which bring such consequences? Those who teach Situation Ethics believe in the circumvention of all law. Their thinking would make evil righteous and righteousness evil.

The prophet Isaiah prophesied, "Woe unto them that call evil good, and good evil; that put darkness for light, and light for darkness; that put bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter!" (Isa. 5:20)

Paul said, "Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. For he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap everlasting life." (Gal. 6:7-8) Therefore transgression of the moral law brings eternal consequences.

Failure to obey the positive law brings consequences. James put it in plain words. "Therefore to him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin." (James 4:17)

The religion of Christ is stated with authority. A violation of God's law is sin. (Gal. 1:6-10)

Salvation from sin does not void the consequences of sin. For example: The drunkard may cease his drunkenness and obey the gospel of Christ. He may live the Christian life. However, if while being a drunkard, he develops cirrhosis of the liver, he must suffer the consequences.

MISSION CHURCH CLOSED—Missionary Servants of The Blessed Trinity at Annunciation Parish in Kiln have closed the St. Joseph Church on Kiln-Delisle Road at Fenton Road. A final Mass was celebrated at the Fenton church at 10 a.m. Sunday, Feb. 17. Leo Garriga who attended the first Mass at the church when it opened some 65 years ago said the building was constructed by members of the Labat family in Bay St. Louis who took up residence on the construction site rather than make what was then a long journey back and forth from Bay St. Louis to Fenton each day. Garriga, son of the late George (Vert) Garriga and Toni Curet Garriga, resides in his family home about one mile north of the church. (Photo by Hilda Bourg)

RELUCTANT FAREWELL—Fr. Antone Lynch of Annunciation Parish in Kiln greets church-goers after the final Mass Sunday, Feb. 17 at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Fenton. St. Joseph's Church was opened some 65 years ago, according to Leo Garriga of Fenton who attended the first Mass at the edifice which is constructed of heavy, handmade cement blocks. February is National Children's Dental Health Month. Since snacks play such a big part in dental and general health, parents can consider some things to do to provide better snacking.

Family habits and the foods chosen to feed the family play an important role in providing healthy snacks. Careful planning can help the budget, provide better quality food and supply a family's nutritional needs.

Nutritionists say that many Americans have poor diets because of their choice of foods. Perhaps too much "junk" food is eaten. What is junk food? Is it snacks like candy, soft drinks and potato chips? Does it include foods eaten at fast food outlets such as hamburgers, french fries and pizza?

Such snacks foods are often high in fat or sugar while containing little or none of the body-building proteins or essential vitamins and minerals. This is why these foods are often called junk foods.

Diets of children, youth and adults are often lacking in milk, fruits and vegetables. Diets often contain too much candy, soft drinks or sweet beverages, bakery goods and fried snacks, such as chips and pretzels. For many adults, alcohol is added to the list.

If these kinds of foods are eaten instead of foods that give an adequate supply of essential nutrients, then there is a need for concern.

When eaten in moderation and at the appropriate time, there's little harm in a candy bar or a soft drink. Hamburgers and pizza contain good protein, carbohydrates and fats. However, they do need to be supplemented with milk, fruits and vegetables to provide the diet with essential vitamins and minerals.

One thing that helps us understand how children can include so much of these so-called junk foods and still get enough essentials to grow and be healthy is the great difference in the quantity each eats for his size.

For example, a seven-year-old weighing 50 pounds needs about the same number of calories as a 30-year-old mother who weighs 120 pounds. The big difference in calorie needs gives the child much more leeway in the kinds of snacks consumed.

Many children are probably deprived of optimal health and development because of poor food choices. See that the family has nutritious snacks.

When shopping, stop in the fresh produce section of the grocery store. Choose fruits and vegetables in season.

Fresh, crispy celery sticks and apples are snack-time favorites. Celery is a natural "stuffer." Fill the ribs with peanut butter or cream cheese. Top succulent apple wedges with the same spreads or experiment with other creamy toppings.

For lots of crunchy goodness, combine fresh snappy vegetables to make a nutritious salad snack. Slice, crisp celery, carrots, zucchini, green pepper, cucumbers, onions, or whatever strikes the fancy—splash on an oil and vinegar dressing and toss. It's also delightful marinated in the dressing for a tantalizing ready-to-eat treat.

DRUG QUIZ

QUESTION - During the entire history of this nation, smoking among men has exceeded that among women. In every age category! Now, teenage girls have reversed that persistent historical pattern. A government survey in 1979 showed that 1.7 million teenage girls and 1.6 million teenage boys are regular smokers.

How does the lung cancer rate for women compare with that for men?

- The women's lung cancer rate is increasing rapidly.
- The increase among men and women is about equal.
- The increase among men exceeds that among women.
- Lung cancer rates are decreasing for both men and women.

ANSWER - According to the American Lung Association, the "shocking" fact is that the lung cancer rate for women has increased 500 percent during the last twenty years. While the rate of increase of lung cancer in men is slowing, the rate of increase in women is accelerating. Until now, the rates of smoking-related diseases among women lagged behind those for men because women took up the cigarette habit at least 25 years later than men did.

Correct answer - a.

QUESTION - Which of the following statements about marijuana smoking is true?

- Leads persons into violent crime
- Leads to use of harder drugs
- More potentially dangerous than either tobacco or alcohol
- Increases sexual activity and pleasure

ANSWER - Marijuana smoking alone won't drive persons into violent crime, nor lead them to use harder drugs, nor increase sexual activity and pleasure. But marijuana users often develop a new set of friends who use other drugs, thus increasing their exposure to harder drugs.

Correct answer - c.

RESOLUTION SUPPORTING TEACHER'S APPEAL TO THE STATE LEGISLATURE FOR EQUITABLE PAY

Runaways returning home via free ride

More than 2,000 runaway teens chose to return to their homes via Trailways' Operation: Home Free during the first seven months of the program.

Since the program was initiated on June 7, an average of ten runaways have utilized Operation: Home Free each day.

The program offers free rides to runaway or missing children.

During the month of June, 1984, 207 young Americans took advantage of the program.

The figures for the remainder of 1984 were: July, 336; August, 308; September, 314; October, 321; November, 352; and December, 322; for a seven-month total of 2,158.

Trailways officials believe the number will rise as more and more runaways become aware of the program.

The program works as follows. A youth, 18-years of age or younger, who has runaway from home and wishes to be reunited with his or her family must report to the police in the town in which he finds himself.

The police will call the child's hometown and verify their status as a runaway or missing person.

An officer of the court will then call Trailways to obtain schedule information to the specific destination.

The office will escort the child to the Trailways terminal or agency one half-hour prior to the scheduled departure and will fill out a form which asks for the officer's name, department, the child's name, the point of origin of the trip and the destination.

The Trailways ticket agent will then issue a free ticket to the child.

The officer will then call ahead to the hometown to alert the child's family and the local police of the scheduled arrival time.

No arrest is made. No fine is applied. No further information is requested and the child is treated during the trip as if he were a full-fare-paying passenger.

The program is corporate policy at Trailways, and according to Trailways Chairman and Chief Executive Officer James L. Kerrigan, the program will be offered to runaways "as long as there is a need."

Summer gifted program sign-up deadline nears

The connection between science and society will be explored by students accepted into the Summer Gifted Studies Program at the University of Southern Mississippi in June.

Applications must be received by March 31 for the summer residential program, which allows students to engage in in-depth analysis of specific topics. Students in grades 5-8 in the fall of 1985 are eligible.

Students in grades 5-7 will participate in Science Connections I, designed to introduce students to science concepts and their relationship to people and their environment.

Library research, group discussions, role-playing and scientific experimentation are some of the methods to be employed.

Deadline for application to both sessions is March 31. Notification of acceptance will be mailed to parents by April 10, with the deadline for payment of tuition on April 20.

Applications may be obtained through local school personnel or by contacting Dr. Frances A. Karmes, Director for Gifted Studies, Southern University, Box 1387, Hattiesburg, Miss. 39401, (601) 566-0256.

Fourth Amendment freedoms may be jeopardized by loosening restraints on police search, seizure

Editor's Note: The following essay on the Fourth Amendment is reprinted by permission of the author, A Bay High senior, and the Student Prints, the school newspaper.

By GEORGE PAUL

The carefully worded Fourth Amendment states that the right of the people to be secure in their persons, places, homes, and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures shall not be violated and no warrant shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation and particularly describing the place to be searched and the people or things to be seized.

As part of the Bill of Rights, the Fourth Amendment was added to the Constitution in the year 1791. It was written specifically to protect the right of the people to be safe in their own homes—to make a man's home his castle, you might say.

Before the Fourth Amendment became a part of American law, it was not uncommon for British soldiers to search an entire city block with little or no reason at all. The Fourth Amendment does two things: It gives every citizen the right to protect his life and property and it restricts the power of the police to intrude upon a citizen's private property.

First, the "castle" doctrine, a principle of law established through court decisions, guarantees the right of the individual to own a gun in order to protect his home.

Second, the Fourth Amendment prohibits unreasonable searches by the police.

Notice that only those searches that are not reasonable aren't allowed. There are many situations in which reasonable searches are allowed without a search warrant.

For instance, the police may arrest anyone who commits a crime in their presence. In these cases an officer may seize the individual and search that person's immediate area in order to prevent the criminal from obtaining a weapon or destroying evidence.

Also if a boat, car, or other vehicle is used in a crime, the police may search it without a warrant because that vehicle is considered a moveable scene of crime that might vanish if the police had to obtain a warrant.

However, if police wish to carry out a planned raid or arrest, they must first obtain a search warrant from a judge. To obtain this warrant the police must show probable cause and support this cause with their oath, or affirmations.

Then they must particularly describe the place to be searched and the people, or things, that are to be seized.

But what if, by chance, an illegal search or seizure does take place? Should the evidence obtained as a result of these unreasonable searches and seizures be allowed in the courts? As a result of the Week's Doctrine, the Silver Platter Doctrine, and the Mapp vs. Ohio case, the Federal Supreme Court has stated that any information which is obtained illegally can not be used in any court of the land.

Today, a major question facing our courts is "What exactly is illegal evidence?" In these days of high technology, the police can be miles away from an actual location and still intercept every word of a private conversation.

Because no actual physical search or seizure of materials takes place, is the obtaining of a search warrant by police really necessary?

This question first arose in the Katz vs. United States case of 1961. It seems that Mr. Katz was a bookie who transmitted his illegal betting information from the city of Los Angeles across the nation to other cities.

Because he was violating a federal law, the FBI was called into investigate. Through the course of their investigation they soon discovered that Katz was using a public telephone booth on a crowded street to relay the information across the country.

The FBI immediately placed a small eavesdropping device on the outside of the booth and began tapping his conversations. After several weeks of tapping, the FBI gathered enough evidence against him, so they brought his case to trial where he was found guilty.

The Federal Supreme Court, however, stepped in, reviewed the case, and issued this landmark decision setting Mr. Katz free.

The court stated that any information a person seeks to keep private is constitutionally protected under the Fourth Amendment. In other words, in any eavesdropping device or wiretapping cases, a search warrant must first be obtained before the police can begin to tape conversations.

The Fourth Amendment protects not only material things, but words and actions as well.

Another case involving unreasonable search and seizure is the recent Michigan vs. Long case of 1983.

The Michigan State Supreme Court overturned Mr. Long's conviction in the following case:

After a wreck, the police spotted a knife on the floorboard of Long's car while checking his registration. They immediately searched Mr. Long and began to search his car where, to their surprise, they found a small bag of marijuana protruding from under an armrest.

The officers at the scene of the accident then arrested Long and seized the marijuana as evidence to be used against him.

Mr. Long was found guilty but, as was stated before, the State Supreme Court of Michigan overturned this conviction of the grounds that, because the police had not first obtained a search warrant, the marijuana had been illegally seized and therefore was inadmissible as evidence. Of course, without this evidence the conviction could not stand.

The Federal Supreme Court decided to review the case and issued the following opinion with three judges dissenting:

First of all, the court stated that the search of Mr. Long's car was a legal one because the knife had been found possibly putting the police officers' lives in danger.

Second, the marijuana was to be considered the fruits of that search.

Finally, although no search warrant had been obtained, the evidence was allowed and the conviction reinstated. Why? Because the police can't simply be made to ignore the fruits of a reasonable search—they do have the right to do their job.

The next two years will be very crucial to the Fourth Amendment. Many experts believe that the definition of reasonable search and seizure will either be changed by legislation introduced into Congress, drastically altered after being reviewed and judged by the Supreme Court, or most likely the definition of reasonable search and seizure will be redefined in the form of a constitutional amendment.

Many groups feel that the limits placed on the police, especially in cases involving drugs, are too great to combat the major crime problem in the nation today. These groups state that other countries allow illegal evidence to be introduced into court if it was due to a minor error on a search warrant, or if the search was made with the belief that it was legal.

Others believe that even though a small number of criminals have gone free, the vast majority of citizens are being protected perfectly, and first and foremost rights and freedoms must be preserved.

Based on recent Supreme Court decisions and public sentiment, it seems likely that the rules regarding search warrants will be loosened in order to give the police the extra power they desire.

With Every $5 Purchase

Imagine, a 20 pc. Service for 4 only $13.80 on our plan

- Oven-to-table convenience
- Microwave, freezer and dishwasher safe
- Mix or match the two charming patterns

Now... let the whimsical appeal of fresh strawberries create a feeling of festivity for your family or guests. Ideal for casual or formal dining, this fine dinnerware is as practical as it is pretty. Versatile stoneware goes directly from freezer to oven to table, allowing you to prepare and serve your favorite meals with ease. Pop it right into the dishwasher without worry and the stoneware comes out sparkling clean. What's more, the colorfast strawberry patch motif won't ever wash, wear or scrub off. The bright flourish will always maintain its shiny lustre, lending a quaint and cheery atmosphere to every dining occasion.

Strawberries 'n Cream features two complementary patterns. The graceful "Strawberries" design is available in dinner plates, salad plates and cups. Or, the "Cream" pattern, with classic brown band, adding a touch of class to plates, its cups and serving pieces. Mix or match the entire set to create the ultimate in contemporary dinnerware.
